Rosenberger family was prepared by Edward Mathews, of Lansdale, Pa., and published in a local paper in the beginning of 1888. This, however, pertained to only two branches of the family in Hatfield.

A more extended account was written by Mr. Mathews at the instigation of the publisher, I. R. Haldeman, himself related to the family both by birth and marriage, and which was published by him in book form in 1892. The work, however, while giving considerable valuable and interesting history of the pioneers of the family, their emigration to America, their settlement in Montgomery county, accounts of the homesteads, occupations, religion, and immediate descendants of these pioneers, it does not give a complete history of the various lines or branches of the families in genealogical form to the present generation.

A more complete history of the family being desired by some of the connections arrangements were accordingly made to revise the work and compile a complete history of the family to the present date and generation. In the preparation of the work much labor and research has been required. The official records and registry of deeds and wills at Norristown, Doylestown and Philadelphia have been searched, various persons connected with the family by ties of relationship interviewed, and a large correspondence

PREFACE.

A short account of the Rosenberger family was prepared by Edward Mathews, of Lansdale, Pa., and published in a local paper in the beginning of 1888. This, however, pertained to only two branches of the family in Hatfield.

A more extended account was written by Mr. Mathews at the instigation of the publisher, I. R. Haldeman, himself related to the family both by birth and marriage, and which was published by him in book form in 1892. The work, however, while giving considerable valuable and interesting history of the pioneers of the family, their emigration to America, their settlement in Montgomery county, accounts of the homesteads, occupations, religion, and immediate descendants of these pioneers, it does not give a complete history of the various lines or branches of the families in genealogical form to the present generation.

A more complete history of the family being desired by some of the connections arrangements were accordingly made to revise the work and compile a complete history of the family to the present date and generation. In the preparation of the work much labor and research has been required. The official records and registry of deeds and wills at Norristown, Doylestown and Philadelphia have been searched, various persons connected with the family by ties of relationship interviewed, and a large correspondence carried on with the entire connections in Montgomery and Bucks counties and elsewhere in Pennsylvania, the far West and Canada.

The work will be of more or less interest to the public generally, but more especially to those bearing the name of Rosenberger and their descendants. The family of Rosenberger has been much extended in Montgomery and adjacent counties, and also in distant portions of the United States and Canada. In presenting this volume the writer has endeavored to give the history of the family together with other matter of interest to the descendants that would otherwise have been lost.

The author also acknowledges himself indebted to the many friends for kind favors received during the compilation of this work in the form of data, etc. Among those who have furnished us with considerable data, to whom we express our sincere gratitude, are: David Rosenberger, of Hatfield, Pa.; Enos L. Rosenberger, of Hiawatha, Kan.; Henry H. Rosenberger, of Quakertown, Pa.; A. A. Delp, of Lansdale, Pa.; Edward Mathews, of Lansdale, Pa. ("History of the Rosenberger Family of Montgomery County"); Rev. Henry A. Hunsicker, of Philadelphia, Pa., and others.

INTRODUCTION.

The present age is one distinctively of research. There is an intellectual restlessness and curiousness manifested which impels to a seeking of more knowledge in all departments of human affairs. Some of this activity is spent for practical ends, some for ends not so plainly practical. The physicist and the chemist in their laboratories make discoveries that may greatly affect industrial and economic problems. The historian, groping his way through partly mutilated records of the misty past, adds to the sum total of human knowledge, but his labors may to a very limited degree, if at all, affect human affairs at the present time. Yet the labors of the latter in bringing to light and putting on record what was in part or altogether forgotten are not without interest and value, although, as it may be, a value founded in large part on sentiment.

Local history is receiving a large share of attention in our present era. It is probably this that has given stimulus to the compilation of family histories and genealogical records. By many Rosenberger descendants the appearance of a work which will give a wider knowledge of the different branches of the family to which they belong, and which will also serve to preserve the history of the family, will be hailed with delight. The writer must acknowledge that previous to his becoming interested in the first reunion of the family he knew very little of its history. That he does not stand alone in this lack is evidenced by these words from another member of the family coming to notice through a communication : "I should like to know something more of the Rosenberger family ; I know all too little of them."

Preservation of and interest in family records with us, where primogeniture and aristocracy do not obtain, is, no doubt, largely a matter of sentiment, but it is sentiment that is not to be despised. The matter flavors also to a large degree of duty, and, in this measure, it becomes an incumbency upon us. There are two extremes into which the human family may fall with respect to the attitude toward ancestry—the one that of veneration amounting to worship ; the other that of neglect amounting to dishonor. The Chinese is a type of the first extreme ; the American people, it is feared, are rapidly drifting into the other. As we fulfill the divine command to honor our parents we must needs become possessed of a lively interest in those who have gone before and through our parents have handed down to us those qualities which are priceless legacies. While we might desire a family history to contain fuller accounts of the characteristics, traits and deeds of our ancestors than this work does, we shall remember that there is no clue known to this desirable knowledge. It is gratifying, however, to have at hand a few bits of data which may be used as a framework upon which the family can build a structure. Among such facts we find that they left the mother country for the sake of liberty of conscience, that they helped to subdue the rugged wilderness of the new world, and that there was a religion that taught simplicity of life, consistency of deeds and profession, and peace with all men. Building upon these facts the imagination cannot go far wrong. We look back with our minds and eyes and see our father, the emigrant, with his family bidding farewell to home surroundings and friends and embarking for a foreign shore. We see him select a site for his home in the new country and then begin the erection of rude buildings for shelter. We see him pursue from day to day his primitive occupation, but with all finding time for higher duties as he ministers to the little flock entrusted to his care ; and along with all we conceive how he fervently blesses God for the priceless boon of liberty vouchsafed to him in this "Land of the Free."

As we picture these scenes we are made aware that the lesson which these sturdy tillers of the soil, our forefathers, teaches us is not without grave import. In our time there is a tendency to measure success by the degree of refinement and luxury, possible of attainment. Of these they knew very little, but times have changed, and we rejoice that they have. We freely admit that it shows a commendable spirit to keep abreast of the times. It remains, however, that present conditions as contrasted with the past do not necessarily determine the comparative value of our lives. Personal worth is the truest crown of any life, whenever and under whatever condition it may be lived.

A large part of this work is simply a record of names and to one outside of the family might appear uninteresting, but to members of the family it will be far from meaningless. Following up this record they will be enabled to trace out the relations of the various branches of the family, and they will, no doubt, often be surprised to find that persons with whom they have had a passing acquaintance are bound to them by ties of kinship. Most of the fuller biographical sketches are of those still living or recently deceased. These will be of interest, as they reveal the many different walks in life chosen by the many descendants. In the light of the fact that at first only a few vocations were represented by the family these will have still more interest. When it is noted that at first the family was limited to one locality and now is spread over the whole extent of the United States and quite largely represented in Canada added interest will follow. But this part will be of still more value and interest to coming generations, and we can do them a good service by giving our assistance in making and preserving these records and handing them over to posterity.

To Rev. A. J. Fretz, the author, every one connected with the family owes a debt of gratitude. The preparation of a work of this character involves the expenditure of much time and labor, besides the accompaniment of many vexations experiences. To the members of the family who have assisted in furnishing the necessary data and have helped in this and other ways in kindling an interest in the history of the family, especially to L. R. Haldeman, the publisher, who was the prime mover in securing the revision of the Rosenberger history, also acknowledgment is due. It is hoped that the work will be widely circulated and accomplish the end in view in its preparation.

EXPLANATIONS.

In the preparation of this work it will be observed that all descendants are recorded in the regular order of birth, from the oldest down to the youngest throughout the entire connection, each generation being marked consecutively from first to last. The Roman numerals placed before each name are used to designate the generation to which they belong, as :—

- I. Henry Rosenberger (First Generation).
- II. Benjamin Rosenberger (Second Generation).
- III. Yelles Rosenberger (Third Generation).
- IV. Benjamin Rosenberger (Fourth Generation).
- V. Elias Rosenberger (Fifth Generation), etc.

Beginning with the first (I) ancestor, Henry Rosenberger, his children as far as known are named. Then follows Benjamin Rosenberger (II Generation), and his children (III Generation) next. Yelles, probably the oldest, is followed down to the last of his descendants, then the second in order of birth of the III Generation, and so on until the end of the entire branch of Benjamin Rosenberger, of the II Generation, is reached. Then the descendants of Daniel Rosenberger, II Generation, is taken up and carried down in like manner to the last of his descendants, and so on throughout the entire connections.

Where marriages occur between members of the connection the husband carries the record. In all such cases a numbered reference is placed after the name and marriage of the wife, as for example (See Index of References No. 1). In the list of Index of References will be found No. 1, Mary A. Dennstedt, married Aaron R. Bock, Page —. On the page given in the body of the book the family record is given.

In the General Index will be found the names of all males of 18 years and over, and the maiden names of all females of 18 years and over ; also the pages on which their family record is given in the body of the book.

To find family records see Index of Branches, where names of all that had issue of the first, second and third generations are given.

THE ROSENBERGER FAMILY OF MONTGOMERY COUNTY, PA.

The name of Rosenberger is of ancient origin in Germany, signifying Rosemount or Rose Castle. The first Rosenbergers in America probably came from the Palatinate, once a province of western Germany, bordering on the Rhine. September 20, 1738, Hans Peter Rosenberger arrived in Philadelphia on a ship from Rotterdam, containing a number of emigrants from that country. John F. Rauchenberger arrived a week later, and Erasmus Rosenberger on September 26, 1749. The first settler of the name of Rosenberger in Montgomery county was Henry Rosenberger, who came to the Indian Creek valley, in Franconia township, in 1729. In 1739 Benjamin Rosenberger settled in Hatfield township, where in that year he purchased 125 acres of land bordering the County Line at Line Lexington, which he held for five years. Daniel Rosenberger purchased another tract in Hatfield lying along the County Line near the hamlet called Hockertown in 1740. In the year 1745 Henry Rosenberger, Jr., came in possession by deed of his father's plantation in Franconia township. John Rosenberger settled in Hatfield township and first bought land around where is now the borough of Hatfield about 1749-50.

It is a tradition of the family that the Rosenbergers of Montgomery county, Pa., came from Germany, from a place called "Zweibrucken" (two bridges).

It is supposed that these families that settled in Franconia and Hatfield townships were all related, and while it is certain that Daniel and John were brothers, it is quite evident that the four above mentioned were all brothers and sons of Henry Rosenberger, Sr. John Shutt Rosenberger, a great-great-grandson of Benjamin Rosenberger, previous to his death is said to have related that one of his ancestors reached the great age of 96 years. It is not now certain which one of his ancestors he named as having reached that age. He also said that one of his ancestors was born on board ship or soon after the landing in America. It is quite certain that neither Benjamin or his eldest son, Yelles, reached the age of 96 years, therefore it must have been Benjamin's father, the emigrant, who was 96 years old at his death. This would also indicate that Benjamin was the son of a pioneer. It is quite likely that Henry Rosenberger, Sr., the pioneer, lived to be 96 years old, but it is not clear that any of the ancestors were born on the voyage over. Benjamin, who no doubt was the eldest, was in all probability born in Germany, and was a lad of from 11 to 15 years old when he came with his father to America. He was born as early as about 1714 and died about 1777, aged 63 years or more. His eldest son, Yelles, was born before 1735 and died 1808, aged 73 or more. The time of the emigration of Henry Rosenberger, Sr., is not known, but was in all probability between the years of 1720 and 1729. The descendants of Benjamin are now largely settled in Bucks county, Pa., and a considerable number also reside in Waterloo county, Ontario, Can.

All the earlier members of these families belonged to the religious sect called Mennonites and worshipped at Franconia and Line Lexington meetinghouses.

Since writing the above we have received a communication from Dr. M. Elizabeth Rosenberg, of Omaha, Neb., which may throw some light on the early history of the Rosenberger family in Europe. The letter reads as follows :

OMAHA, NEB., Sept. 19, 1899.

REV. A. J. FRETZ,

Dear Sir :—Forgive me for plunging right into the subject. My time is limited, the story is a long one, the pater's mind is not so strong as it used to be. I have obtained my side of the tree by devious ways.

First, I will tell the story as I think it is ; then I will give you proofs as near as I can.

I think we must start with Bohemia in Austria. A family of Rosenberg lived northwest of Vienna on a large estate. History mixes them up with the Hohenzollern family and the religious wars of Austria. Between 1611 and 1660 they were driven out to Switzerland, Holland, England, and lastly they took ship with William Penn. There must have been a father and nine sons. The pater (my father) is the eighth generation from the one coming on the ship.

PROOF I. I have heard my father say (when I was small) "my father was of a princely family. There was Von to the name ; bnt he, the original Von Rosenberg, had to drop it because no Von could travel without a permit from his king."

PROOF II. A Rosenberg living near Washingtonville, O., sent for father about the year 1851 to see what their relationship might be, and this cousin said that they (he and my father) were the eighth generation, that the original emigrant was a man with nine sons, that one son went to Virginia and that he was from that branch.

PROOF III. My father often heard his father tell that his ancestors were driven out by religious persecution, that they hid in Switzerland in caves, thence fled to Holland and England, that the name was changed during the flight, and the Von never resumed, that a fierce battle was fought before their flight.

PROOF IV. There was an article in the "Boston Monthly Scientific " on farming from a traveler in Austria describing the Schwartzberger estate. These obtained the estate after the flight of the Rosenberg family. Wintergan is the central village. The fish pond still retains its original name, Rosenberg "Tench." I do not know the date of the article. We and Uncle Dave Rosenberg, of Bettsville, O., have copies of it. The estate consists of 99 villages and 30,000 people, and about 75,000 acres under the control of this Prince.

Very respectfully,

M. E. ROSENBERG.

The article above referred to and furnished by Miss Rosenberg reads as follows :

A PRINCELY ESTATE.

The domain of the Schwartzbergs' estate consists of 99 cities and villages and 30,000 people on one farm. The extensive and interesting collection of products of the famous estate of the Prince John Adolph Von Schwartzenberg's pavillion in the National Exposition has led to a general desire among those interested in agriculture to see for themselves the rich fields and perfect appointed farm establishment that has brought forth such a wealth of various products. Consequently the second excursion of a committee or jury that visited the farm estate yesterday was a very popular one. The excursionists counted to be 150 persons, and they took for themselves a special train at 6 a. m. In four hours' ride we landed there through hills and rich plains of Bohemia. The views, landscapes and sceneries before our sight while enroute was interesting and instructive. The Schwartzbergs' domain lieth towards the northwest from Vienna in the direction of the Pragne, and comprises about 75,000 acres, of which about 30,000 acres is woodland and 20,000 acres are under cultivation, while 14,000 acres are covered with water, lakes, etc., the remainder farm yards, streets, etc. This domain has been in the possession of the Schwartzbergs' since A. D. 1660, having been formerly in the possession of the Rosenberg family. The domain reverted to the Crown on the death of the last one of the Rosenbergs', A. D. 1611, and was presented by the Crown to John Adolph Schwartzenberg at the time of A. D. 1660. The population of the domain is in the neighborhood of about 30,000 people, who inhabit 99 villages, of which Wintergan is the residence of the Prince. The details of the direction of affairs of the domain would occupy too much space to be given at length. The prince is assisted by the hereditary Prince Adolph Joseph in the management of the estate and there is an army of officials from all directions of this domain. The entire domain, exclusive of the sugar mills, brings a yearly product of the value of 6,000,000 florins, or about 3 per cent. of the capital represented. There is hardly a limit to the variety of substance of food produced on the estate. Fish culture has been for 300 hundred years a great specialty.

The Rosenberg family in the end of the fifteenth century stocked with fish the largest ponds for the first time. The large pond is still called today the Rosenberg "Teuch."

NOTE.—There is no doubt that Henry Rosenberger, Sr., of Franconia, was the pioneer emigrant, and that he in common with other Mennonites fled from Germany on account of religious persecution. Of the earlier history of the family and their connection with the "princely family," the original spelling of the name, as suggested in the foregoing, the number of children the pioneer had, and whether one of the sons emigrated to Virginia or not, we know nothing. We have seen Rosenberger's direct from Austria and Germany and one Rosenberg from Prussia. One of the former from Austria claimed to be of an old Austrian Rosenberger stock, and were Jews. The last mentioned Rosenberg, from Prussia, was also a Jew.

AUTHOR.

HENRY ROSENBERGER, OF FRANCONIA.

I. Henry Rosenberger is believed to have been the first of the name who came to Montgomery county as an emigrant from Germany, and was a Mennonite. He purchased land in Franconia on November 14, 1729, of James Steele, of Philadelphia. For £30 he obtained 150 acres. This was situated about two and one-half miles west of Souderton. It covered an area through which flows the Indian Creek. The greater part was the slope toward the northwest from the present Souderton and Harleysville turnpike to that stream, and including the site of the Mennonite burying ground. Within these boundaries are now the farm of Jacob S. Alderfer, Schneck's mill and the farm of Michael Swartley. The latter is the fifth in descent from Henry Rosenberger and owns the homestead. Here down in the valley of the Indian Creek and on its southeast side is a stone farm house of unusual size. It bears the date of 1809 and the name of John "Schwardle" in German, who was the grandfather of the present owner. To the north is a modern barn and close to hand an older one. The latter is the oldest building about the premises. On the wooden beam over the door is inscribed the name of Henry Rosenberger and Barbara, his wife, with the date of 1755. The first barn of all, in existence between 1730 and 1755, stood more closely adjacent to the banks of the stream, which was thought handy to wash away the manure at a time this was thought of little value. A stone springhouse stands 70 yards west of the house near the creek and bears the date of 1793. For this distance the water for household purposes was carried for three or four generations. In the present garden, just west of the house, stood the humble log dwelling which sheltered the old Mennonite emigrant and his family. It was only one and one-half stories high and existed for 80 years.

The boundaries of the wilderness tract purchased of Steele in 1729 were : " Beginning at corner in line of Christian Haldeman ; thence by same northeast 100 perches to line of Francis Daniel Pastorias ; thence by same northwest 254 perches by marked trees ; thence by marked trees southeast 254 perches to beginning." This was part of 1000 acres which Penn's commissioners of property, Isaac Norris, James Logan and Thomas Griffith, had sold to Steele in 1728. The deed was witnessed by James Robinson and Abraham Reiff. The Christian Haldeman here mentioned held a tract on the south side of the turnpike, where is now the Jonas Moyer estate.

In the list of taxables of Franconia in 1734 is found the name of Henry Rosenberger. In the old records Franconia is styled " The Dutch Township," and to the present day its population is almost wholly of German or Dutch origin.

Nothing is known of the personality of Henry Rosenberger. He built a house and barn and cleared some land, enduring the hardships of a first settler. In the year 1745 he conveyed his plantation in Franconia to his son Henry. The boundaries of the deed of 1745 are copied from the first deed and Henry Funk and Christian Meyer, two Mennonites, were the witnesses. The son Henry paid his father £200. It is not known what became of the father after con-veiling his plantation to his son, but he probably remained with Henry.

It is not known when Henry Rosenberger died. He was a Mennonite and one of the original worshippers at Franconia, where he was also buried.

The Franconia Mennonite meetinghouse is one of the typical places of worship found in many localities of eastern Pennsylvania. A church was organized and a house of worship built here as early as 1730. The recent structure was succeeded by another in 1872. Like all others of this people it is plain to austerity. Many horse sheds encompass it about. It is built upon an elevation from which a splendid view of hill and valley to the north and west may be obtained. This overlooks a densely populated farming country, extending to the distant hills of Berks and the highlands beyond the Schuylkill. In the near view are the pleasant vales of the Indian Creek and the North Branch of the Perkiomen. On the northwest side of the meetinghouse lies the extensive burying ground, thickly dotted with marble tombstones, where repose the dead of many generations. This congregation is one of the strongest in number, having over 700 members. A communion service in the Spring brings out a very large attendance and the services have a quaint interest for the stranger. The service, beginning at 8 o'clock in the morning, lasts over three hours. The women are seated within the two aisles, while the men occupy the side pews, their hats being hung on long rows of pegs over the aisles. In the rear vestibule, entered by a side door, is the women's room, where are hung their bonnets and extra clothing. The Scriptures are read in German and several preachers in turn exhort the congregation. The elements of the communion are handed to each member by the bishop, who has an assistant, meanwhile constantly exhorting. In time of prayer is seen a kneeling throng. The preacher from a hymn book reads one verse at a time in a sing-song tone. This is sung to an old-fashioned tune, sounding sweetly to the ear as it comes from the white-capped throng. Thus is conducted the worship of the followers of Menno Simons.

We name as the children of Henry Rosenberger, Sr., Benjamin, Daniel, John, Henry, Jr. If there were daughters we have not learned of them.

BENJAMIN ROSENBERGER, OF HATFIELD.

II Benjamin Rosenberger, born in Germany ; died during the Revolution about 1777 ; married Helena She died in 1799. Benjamin Rosenberger settled in Hatfield township, Montgomery county, Pa., where, as early as 1739, he purchased 125 acres on the County Line, comprising the present Oliver G. Morris and Frick farms at Line Lexington, or Ebenezer Kimmersley. This property he held until 1744, and it is probable that he made the first improvements there. He sold it to his son John, who only retained possession one year.

Benjamin Rosenberger was of a dealing, trading, speculative disposition, and we find him buying and selling various properties in different townships all his life. His next purchase was a tract of land of 112 acres in Hatfield lying further southwest. This was 40 perches by 210 in dimensions. The neighboring landholders were James Dunn on the southeast, Jacob Warner on the southwest, John Shooter on the south, and Edward Warner on the northwest. This piece was bought of David Thomas for £120. It had belonged to a grant of 1210 acres made to Jonathan Hecox in 1707, who made the first improvements. His only son Jonathan, had two sisters, Elizabeth, wife of Richard Morris, and Mary, wife of Thomas Lewis. The daughters were the heirs after the death of their father. They sold to John Williams in 1731, who conveyed to David Thomas in 1734.

We next find him the owner of the late Server farm, just north of Lausdale, a large part of which is now included in that borough. This he bought at a date now unknown, but which Rosenberger sold to Solomon Sell in 1760. It comprised 106 acres and in later times belonged to Edward Jenkins and his son Philip. A little later, before 1766, he came into possession of a farm in Gwynedd, near Friends' Corner, later owned by Jonathan Lukens. This he sold in 1776 to Cadwallader Foulke. In 1772 he bought a lot in Upper Gwynedd, comprising 50 acres, of Jonathan Clayton, near the present Kneedler hotel. Probably this had no building on it. It was sold by his heirs in 1781 to Jacob Heisler, the tavern keeper, for £400. It is supposed that he also owned a farm in Franconia, as his widow Helena died in that township. In the old deeds of Benjamin Rosenberger he is mentioned as a carpenter. At one time he also owned the present Beaver farm, near North Wales.

The death of Benjamin Rosenberger took place during the Revolution, near or in 1777, after an active life of over 50 years in this county. Helena, widow of Benjamin Rosenberger, Sr, died in Franconia during the Summer of 1799. In her will mention is made of her grandchild Helena, wife of Michael Wireman, and great-grandchild, Anna Weirman. From her daughter Elizabeth, who married John Alderfer, have sprung many descendants in Lower Salford. The surviving children of Benjamin Rosenberger were five in number, viz: Elias (or Yellis), John, Gertrude, Elizabeth, Henry.

DESCENDANTS OF YELLIS, SON OF BENJAMIN ROSENBERGER, SR.

III. Yellis Rosenberger, born at Hatfield, Montgomery county, Pa., before 1735; died near Perkasio or Sellersville, in Rockhill township, Bucks county, in the early Fall of 1808. His will was registered October 3 of that year. In this he bequeathed to his son Benjamin the "plantation where I now live" containing 130 acres, then bounded by lands of Andrew Schlichter and Abraham Stroud. He also owned fourteen acres of woodland. His daughter Ann received £1000 and the other daughter, Rebecca, a farm in Springfield, where John Bissey lived. The son Henry had already received his portion. Yellis, or Julius Rosenberger, as he is often called in the old deeds, inherited the trading, money-making disposition of his father, and the records of Bucks county show that he bought and sold many different properties in that county. In 1760 he bought of Henry Funk a plantation in Hilltown of 100 acres for £400, which he sold in 1765. Before 1773 he lived in Springfield, on the Samon line, a portion of his farm being in Northampton county. In that year he bought a farm at Belminter on the Hilltown border, of George Rothrock. In 1774 a farm of 100 acres was bought of Valentine Kramer, in Hilltown. In 1795 he bought 7 acres in Rockhill of Christian Dotterer, which just before his death, in 1808, he sold to his son Henry. He had also acquired a farm of 130 acres in that town.

Franconia Mennonite Meeting House.

The Springfield farm was inherited by his son Benjamin, as well as the one in Rockhill. There is a tradition concerning a large tract of land in Rockhill, which, in those days, was held by non-resident owners. It comprised, along with arable land, much of the Rockhills. Several squatters had settled on this land, among whom was a Rosenberger. They were ordered to vacate, but refused, and were only dispossessed by a Sheriff's posse. The latter came "with a band of soldiers," as the story goes, in the absence of Rosenberger. The women folks at home were very belligerent and prepared to scald the intruders. The Sheriff finally broke down the door and got possession. The writer has no dates as to the time of this transaction or which family were engaged. The children of Yellis Rosenberger were Benjamin, Henry, Anna, Rebecca.

IV. Benjamin Rosenberger, born probably in Hatfield about 1758; died in 1824; married Margaret Nash. He lived in Saucon in his early youth, and before his majority was teamster in the American army of the Revolution. The latter part of his life he lived in Rockhill, Bucks county. He also owned a grist, saw and oil mills in Haycock and 27 acres of land. He reached the age of 66, his will being registered April 24, 1824. In this document mention is made of his children, as follows: Elias, Abraham, William, John, Jacob, Joseph, Benjamin, Elizabeth, Rachel, Margaret.

When a young man he learned the cabinetmaking trade, and is said to have been one of the best. He enlisted in the Rebellion September 1, 1864, in Philadelphia, in the 203rd Regiment, Company D, Pennsylvania, and was a volunteer in the 10th corps. He was in the war about one year, when it broke up. He was on detached services at Corps' Headquarters. His duties were to build and to level off the ground around the officers tents, and for this work he had as many as 300 negroes in his employ. At the second battle of Chapman's farm, the Rebels discovering General Birney and staff, began firing in that direction, the bullets coming thick and fast about where Mr Rosenberger was standing, causing him to tremble. It was an old saying "that whoever trembles will be the next to be killed. A piece of shell flew past without hitting him but with such force that his head was turned half way round and so suddenly that it cracked, and he had to take both hands to put his head in the right position again. In this battle he was on the reserve force and was stationed where he saw the whole battle. He was at another time detailed to make a coffin for a deserter, who, when taken to the grave to be shot, sitting on his coffin, bared his breast and pointing to the spot said, "boys, shoot me here," and when shot, fell stone dead in his coffin.

It is related that when Mr Rosenberger was a creeping baby that his sister took him up in the third story of the mill in which they lived, and while she

THE ROSENBERGER HISTORY

When the floor he crept to the door and fell on three stones, fortunately falling in a pile of logs, and bounced like a rubber ball. The miller, who was standing there at his work, caught him up and ran in the mill, and on examining him found him unhurt.

Mr. Rosenberger was superintendent of L. W. Drake's sawing and planing mill at Hazleton, Pa. for years. In August 1877 he moved his family to Philadelphia, where he took charge of Boweby & Lush's sawing and planing factory in that city. In April 1878 he went to Bloomsbury, N. J., to work for the same firm, who had built a factory along the banks of the Musconetcong. November 30, 1880, he moved to Washington, N. J., and worked in Daniel F. Beatty's large organ works, but owing to the condition of his health he was forced to leave his work and he again moved to Bloomsbury in 1885. Having somewhat regained his health and receiving an urgent invitation to resume his position he again moved to Washington February 24, 1887. After holding his position for a short time he was advised by his physician to quit work. He again moved to Bloomsbury April 27, 1888, and resided there until his death. He was a member of John F. Reynold's Post, No. 26, Dept. of N. J. G. A. R., of Washington, organized April 20, 1882. He was a member of the M. E. church and a class leader for many years in the German M. E. church at Hazleton, Pa. He was also a leader of his family. Children: William, Rosalia, John, Samson, Anna, Mary, Jane, Cassie, Lillian, Elizabeth.

VII. John B. Rosenberger, b. in Philadelphia Sept. 25, 1856; d. in Hazleton, Pa., 1880. Young, of Orange, N. J. Rosenberger. Mr. Rosenberger is a barber and has worked all his time at Bloomsbury and elsewhere for a number of years. After his conversion he united with the church, but his business required him to work on Sundays and which was not consistent with his religious sentiment in the matter. However, in considering the matter he thought that if he closed his shop on Sunday his business would be ruined, but being fully persuaded that it was his duty to close he resolved to do so. He then moved to Easton, Pa, but here he did not succeed. One Saturday night he took the matter to the Lord in prayer, whom he told he could not make a living in Easton with his shop closed on the Sabbath and that he must have a position given to him the Monday following. He asked the Lord to direct his feet, for he knew not where to go. The Lord graciously heard his prayer and on Monday morning his wife came to the shop and handed him a telegram from his sister, which ran thus : " John, come down at once ; important business.—Rose." He took the first train for Bloomsbury and in the afternoon returned to Easton with the key of the Bloomsbury barber shop in his pocket, to which place he removed and now conducts a successful business. He served as class leader, assistant Sunday school superintendent and trustee of the church. M E. C : (VIII) Hannah Adeline Rosenberger, born Feb 14, 1883 ; George N Young, born Sept 9, 1888.

Shortly after graduation he entered Schuylkill Seminary, Fredericksburg, Schuylkill county, Pa, for the purpose of receiving a thorough business education, which he completed in the Spring of 1895. After leaving school he entered J M Slifer's general store at Lausdale, Pa, as clerk, remaining in the

When in his 10th year while attending campmeeting at Perkasie Park, Aug 1, 1891, he was converted to God, not of flesh and blood, but of water and the spirit. Soon after his conversion he was called of God to the ministry of the Gospel of Jesus Christ. In 1895, at Shamokin, Pa, he was licensed to preach according to the rules and regulations of the Eastern Pennsylvania Conference of the United Evangelical Church. During the last year of school at Albright Collegiate Institute (now Albright College), he was stationed as minister of the United Evangelical church at Barnesville, Schuylkill co, Pa, which charge he still serves, having three flourishing congregations to which he ministers, viz: Barnesville, Quakake and Locust Valley. VI. Abraham Rosenberger, b in Waterloo co, Ont, Sept 3, 1831; m Catharine Moore Oct 18, 1853. She was b in Waterloo co, Ont, Sept 29, 1836. When a boy Mr Rosenberger moved with his parents to Wilmot twp. Ont, where his parents were pioneer settlers and had all the inconveniences and requisites of pioneer life such as living in a log cabin in the woods with only a fireplace for cooking and a blanket for a door, and hunting, horseback riding, fishing, etc. Abram helped to clear many a new farm. Machinery being almost unknown then and schools few and inferior, boys were obliged to work hard, with but little opportunity to get an education. Abram's schooling consisted of about three Winter's of school. Though a studious pupil he had little chance of learning anything besides reading, writing and arithmetic. His mother taught him to read German, which he never forgot.

In 1851 he bought a farm of his father, where he lived until 1873 when he sold it and moved to Huron co, Ont. where he had rented the Cober farm. In 1873 he moved to a farm of his own, where he lived until 1877 when he sold and bought a farm nearer Huron co. In 1884 he again sold and bought a farm in Mich. where he still resides.

When Mrs Rosenberger was 11 years old her parents moved to Antioch, Ill, where her father died of a fever, and soon after the family returned to Canada.

Mr Rosenberger's whole family of eight children have musical talent inherited from their parents, and as long as a majority of them were at home they had a regular family choir. P O Unionville, Mich. Farmer; Menn. C: Nancy, Rachel, Lydia, Samuel, Aaron, Jesse, Mary, Sarah.

V Elizabeth Alderfer, b in Lower Salford, Montg. Co. Pa Nov 16, 1798, m Rev. Abraham Hunsicker May 30, 1816. He was b in Skippack twp. Montg. Co. July 31, 1793, d at Collegeville, Pa. Jan 12, 1872. He was a grandson of Valentine Hunsicker, probably the progenitor of all of the name in Montg. Co., who came to American in 1717, and about 1726 settled in what was then called Van Bebber, since Skippack, and now East Perkiomen Township. The next generation in the direct line was Henry Hunsicker, who was a noted Mennonite Bishop, and preached 54 years. He was the parent of Rev. Abraham Hunsicker, the subject of this sketch. His ancestors being followers of Menno Simon, a plain unworldly sect, most of whom grew up to look upon a liberal education "as of the world." Abraham Hunsicker enjoyed but the most limited educational advantages. When grown up he felt the disadvantages of the want of Scholastic training, and being of a strong natural endowment, early conceived the idea of reforming his religious brethren in reference to that subject. He was ordained a minister of the Mennonite church Jan 1, 1847, and soon after was elected a Bishop. About that time a Schism occurred in the Mennonite body, and Rev. Mr. Hunsicker was separated from "the old school." In 1851 a second division took place, when he set about organizing a society. He issued a pamphlet entitled a "Statement of Facts and Summary of views on Morals and Religion as related with Suspension from the Mennonite meeting." A copy of said Pamphlet may be seen in the rooms of the Historical Society of Penna.

About the time of his ordination, (1847), as Bishop of the Mennonites in the district of Skippack Providence, and Methatchen, he conceived the idea in connection with his son Henry A. Hunsicker of founding a Boarding School to furnish his people better means of education. This was accomplished in 1848 by the erection of the extensive building now occupied by Ursinus College. In 1851, in conjunction with Prof. J. W. Sunderland he founded Montgomery Female Institute, afterward Pennsylvania Female College. These proceeding in the cause of education and other liberal views held by Mr. Hunsicker, led to division in the Mennonite body in the locality, and he proceeded at once to organize Trinity Christian Church. The church was built in 1853. Several years later another church was built at Skippackville. He was of a humane and practically benevolent nature and dispensed freely what he had to help the poor and labored long and hard to establish through the church a fund for the poor. Practical religion born of love and good will to all was preeminently his, and that which he labored to establish. He was an advocate of free Communion among Evangelical Sects, and set the example in the church to which he ministered. He wore the plain Mennonite garb while he lived, but was not prepossessed in its favor, holding the view that attire is a thing of religious liberty. He followed the teachings of the Divine Word as he understood them. He was of a mild and generous nature, and yet firm and uncompromising in what he regarded as vital; so he may be set down as one of the genuine reformers of our day. In person he was tall and stoutly built, weighing over two hundred pounds, with a face expressive of honesty, force and resolution; his forehead was massive and his temperament bilious—sanguine, indicating power and endurance, his complexion was Machine Company, of Collegeville, Pa., taking charge of its finances and general business. Mr. Fetterolf has held a number of public positions. He has always been a staunch Republican, and has taken great interest in local and state elections. In 1882 he was elected Justice of the Peace for the township of Upper Providence, and re-elected in 1887, but later resigned to accept a County office. As Justice of the Peace, he enjoyed the confidence of the people, and did quite an extensive business. During the time he acted in many trust capacities, settling a large number of estates of decedents and assigned estates, in all which he displayed signal ability. He was Deputy Clerk of the Courts of Montgomery County from 1891 until he resigned to accept a more responsible position in the House of Representatives, at Harrisburg. In 1885 he made his first appearance in the House of Representatives in the position of Transcribing Clerk. His ability and faithfulness in this position was such that at the following session he was promoted to the position of Speaker's Clerk, and so served during the session of 1887. During the session of 1889 he was again promoted, this time to the position of Journal Clerk. During the session of 1891 he was filling his position as Clerk of the Courts, and therefore was not in Harrisburg. In 1893 Mr. Fetterolf again received an appointment in the House of Representatives for a still more responsible position, that of Resident Clerk, and later was elected Chief Clerk.

In 1892 Mr. Fetterolf was unanimously elected Chairman of the Republican County Committee of Montgomery Co. and conducted the campaign of that year and the following year so successfully as to elect the entire ticket with a single exception. In this position he developed great executive ability, and demonstrated his shrewdness as a political organizer. In 1893 he was appointed Secretary of the State Republican Committee, in which position he served two years and was elected for a third term. In this position he has performed valuable services for his party.

Mr. Fetterolf has been Secretary for the Perkio-men Valley Mutual Fire Insurance Company since July 1889. Ref. Ch. C:

Mr. Hunsicker spent his boyhood days on his father's farm, and had only the limited advantages of the country schools of that time. In 1835 Henry Prizer opened a boarding school in the village of Trappe. He died in 1838 and was succeeded in the school by Rev. Henry S. Rodenbough. This was Mr. Hunsicker's Alma Mater. In 1848 he and his father founded "Freeland Seminary," an educational institution designed for young men and boys. He at once became the principal of the school, and three years later the proprietor. He continued as Principal of this school until 1865, when he leased the school and property to A. H. Fetterolf, one of his assistants, for five years. During the time of his lease to Prof. F. he sold the school property to Rev. J. H. A. Bombroger, D. D., of Philadelphia, who, in connection with other enterprising persons, obtained a charter and founded Ursinus College. In 1850 Mr. Hunsicker was ordained to the ministry of the New(Oberholtzer) Mennonite Church. On account of the liberal and progressive ideas in church work, a schism took place in 1851, which resulted in establishing an independent church known as Trinity Christians, of which Mr. Hunsicker was one of the founders, and for which he continued to preach until 1875. He later connected himself with Presbyterian church, and is now a member of the Moravian church; the changes in his church relations were made on account of change of location.

VI. Catharine Hunsieker, b Jan 9, 1840, m Rev. Joseph H. Hendricks, D. D. Dec 21, 1858. He was b in Montg. Co. Pa. Sept 21, 1834, d Nov 1905. P O Collegeville, Pa. Mr. Hendricks was reared on his father's farm, and in the spring of 1851, entered Freeland Seminary, (now Ursinus College), and in the fall of 1852, took charge of a public school in Milford Square, Bucks County. During the four consecutive winters he was a teacher in the public schools; he attended Freeland Seminary during the summer months. In February 1856 he was appointed to the position of assistant teacher in Freeland Seminary, and in two years he was promoted to teach the higher mathematics, and was made vice-principal of the institution. It was while engaged in these duties that at a meeting of the Christian Society, at Freeland, (now Ursinus College), held A. D. 1860, he was, according to the usages of the church, of which he was a member, elected on trial to the office of the ministry. He at once began to attend the duties of his new position in connection with his school work. On June 25, 1861, he was ordained to the office of minister of the Gospel. The Christian Society materialized and was incorporated in the Spring of 1855. The society built for itself, in 1854, what was styled the "Christian Meeting House," and the same was opened in the spring of 1855 for public worship. In February 1862, Mr. Hendricks was elected pastor of the Christian Society, and was installed in April 1862. At this time the duties of this new office occupied so much of his time that he was compelled to resign his position as teacher and vice-principal of Freeland Seminary. The original Christian Society, subsequently Trinity Church, began as an independent church in 1888, when it was received into formal fellowship with the Reformed Church in the U. S. The other appointments of the charge are: Trinity Church, Skippackville; and Ironbridge Chapel, Rahm Station.

Mr. Hendricks enjoyed the distinction of having served the same charge longer than any other living pastor in Montgomery Co. He officiated at upwards 1000 funerals. He was greatly beloved by his own congregation and in much demand outside of his own churches. He was a fluent and forcible preacher, speaking entirely extempore, in a rapid, earnest and convincing manner. In June 1881, Ursinus College conferred on him the degree of M. A. and in June 1897, the degree of D. D. C: Lizzie, Ella, Bertha, Abraham, Sallie.

VII. Lizzie Hendricks, b Feb 9, 1860, d Feb 29, 1860.

VII. Ella M. Hendricks, b Sept 4, 1861, m Freeland G. Hobson Sept 15, 1881. P O Collegeville, Pa. He was b at Collegeville, Pa. Oct 13, 1857, d Jan 10, 1906. He was educated in the public schools of Upper Providence twp subsequently took a full course in and graduated from Ursinus College in 1876. He then entered the law office of Jacob V. Gotwals, at that time District Attorney of Montgomery Co., and was admitted to the bar on Oct 1, 1880. He immediately opened an office in Norristown, where he soon began to build up a lucrative practice, and where he has remained ever since. He was an eloquent pleader, and was uniformly successful in the trial of cases. In 1888 Mr. Hobson put on foot the movement to organize the Norristown Title, Trust and Safe Deposit Company, and was made its secretary, treasurer, and trust officer. He was also founder and publisher of the Montgomery County Law Reporter and the author of the History of Providence township, and was one of the contributors to Col. Bean's History of Montgomery County.

Mr. Hobson was a leader in the Patriotic Order Sons of America, and a member of camp 267 at Ironbridge. In 1893 he was elected State President, and at the conclusion of his term at Erie, Pa. he was the happy recipient of a handsome cane made from the hull of the old flagship Lawrence. He was a prominent member of the Valley Forge Memorial Association and a director of Ursinus College, Collegeville, Pa. He was for eight years an elder of Trinity Reformed Church of Collegeville. He has been a delegate to the Classes, Synods, and General Synods of the Reformed Church in the United States, taking very active part in all these bodies. DANIEL ROSENBERGER, OF HATFIELD.

II. Daniel Rosenberger, b in Europe, in Fronica—. He purchased a tract of land in Hatfield, lying along the county line near the hamlet of Hockertown, in 1740. His lands composed 359 acres, bought in two tracts and at different times. This large plantation bordered on the county line 1 mile, and $\frac{1}{2}$ southwest. Within this tract are now the properties of David, Samuel and Henry Rosenberger; Milton Jenkins, John Landis, and Kile's tavern property. He purchased his first tract of land, 159 acres, in 1740, of Ebernezer Kinnersly, and was the upper or north-west side of his subsequent plantation. In 1769 he purchased 200 acres of George Krieble. This latter purchase took place only two years before his death, so that during nearly the whole of his life, he only possessed the smaller portion of the tract afterwards held by his posterity.

The larger portion of this latter purchase was conveyed by will to Isaac, the youngest son of Daniel Rosenberger.

Tradition says Daniel Rosenberger first settled near the county line where Samuel Rosenberger now lives, then he removed a short distance westward, where was the residence of Henry Rosenberger. Here he built a stone house in which he died. This upper part of his plantation was devised to his son David, who built a new house in 1780; the date stone may yet be seen in the cellar way of present dwelling, and bears the initials, "D. R. B.," standing for "David Rosen Berger." David Rosenberger bequeathed this property to his son, Henry Rosenberger. It then passed into the hands of Aaron Rosenberger, who sold it to Jacob Allebach, and in 1895, it was sold at Sheriff's sale to one Pennypacker.

No information has come down to us concerning the personality of Daniel Rosenberger. He was a Mennonite and worshiped at the church near Line Lexington, where his remains were buried. He made his will Aug 15, 1771, was witnessed by Valentine Ulrich, John Rosenberger, and Christian Funk, and was registered September 23, 1771. The 200 acres were conveyed to his son David, and 159 acres to Isaac. The widow who had the singular name of Fronica, was to receive £700 from her son David, showing that Daniel had become a comparatively wealthy man, for those days. C: David, Isaac, Ann, Mary.

DESCENDANTS OF DAVID ROSENBERGER,
SON OF DANIEL ROSENBERGER.

III. David Rosenberger, d in 1829, aged about 80 years, m Ann Funk, daughter of Rev. Christian and Barbara (Cassel) Funk, 2nd grand-daughter of Bishop Henry Funk, of Franconia twp. Montg. Co. Pa. C: Christian, Elizabeth, Mary, Ann, Philip, David, Abraham, Daniel. David m 2nd wife, Barbara, daughter of John Detweiler. C: Susanna, John, Henry, Franey, Valentine.

The two hundred acres bequeathed to David Rosenberger was bounded on the northwest by the cross road, now a turnpike, running from the Co. line to Hatfield station. It comprised the Landis farm, those of Henry and Samuel Rosenberger; the lot of David Rosenberger and the tavern property. At the premises of Henry Rosenberger, his great grandson he continued to reside during his life. David Rosenberger lived to be quite an old man—probably over 80 years of age. Besides the patrimony he received from his father in 1771, he also acquired a farm of 78 acres in Hilltown, which he willed to his daughter, Fronica. The homestead of 109 acres was conveyed to his son Henry, in 1821. Another farm of 78 acres, at present that of Samuel Rosenberger's, was conveyed to his son John by will. Farmer, Menn.

IV. Christian Rosenberger, b about 1773, d 1821, m Elizabeth Krant. His name appears in the records in 1795, when he bought for £408 123 acres of the Kinsey estate in Upper Gwynedd, but which he sold two years later. In 1797 he bought 129 acres in Lower Providence, where he remained until his death. He was a wealthy man and an extensive landholder. His heirs, in 1826, sold a farm of 64 acres to John Stinson, also six houses and 300 acres in Worcester and Providence, to various parties. The land was near the Germantown and Perkiomen Turnpike. Farmer. Menn. C: David, Jacob, John, Ann, Barbara, Hettie, Marie, Christian.

V. Rev. *John Rosenberger, b in Montg. Co. Pa. May 21, 1801, d in North Georgetown, Ohio, Mar 17, 1853, m Elizabeth Z., daughter of Jacob Hunsicker, of Skippack, Pa. Dec 26, 1824. She was b May 26, 1798, d in Osage City, Kansas Dec 24, 1887. Farmer and Minister, first of the Menn., and in after life of the Evangelical Association. At the annual session of the Conference of the Evangelical Association Church in Pa. in 1838, he was licensed to preach and was sent as an assistant to travel the Lancaster Circuit, and in 1839 as an assistant on the York Circuit. The work of the church at that time was more on the order of Missionary work, with much traveling, and constantly, every day preaching, with many hardships to endure, and small salaries. He having a wife and six children, his small capital sank $400. which forced him to locate in 1840, when he and his family moved to eastern Ohio, then a new country, where other members of his father's family had preceeded him. He bought a farm of 80 acres and supported his family by farming, still continuing to preach on Sunday the balance of his life, and died in 1853, honored by all that knew him. C: Jacob, Annie, Elizabeth, Sarah, Isaac, John, Barbara, David, Maria.

VI. Jacob H. Rosenberg, M. D., b in Lower Providence twp. Montg. Co. Pa. Oct 17, 1825, m Mary Ann Caudels, daughter of George and Elizabeth

Anna C. Caudels, Oct. 31, 1847. She was b. Nov. 17, 1818, d. Sept. 2, 1880. Res. 1626 Burdette St., Omaha, Neb.

Dr. Rosenberg was converted Jan. 9, 1837, and joined the Evangelical Association. In Aug. 1843, at the Ohio Conf. of the Ev. Ass'n. Church, he was licensed to the "Local Ministry." He taught district schools, and preached on Sundays. In 1853, '54, '55, the Pittsburg Conf. Ev. Ass'n. sent him to travel as preacher on their circuits in Armstrong, Jefferson, Clarion and Venango counties of Pa., and 1856 to 1864 the Ohio Conf. sent him to travel and preach on the missions and circuits in the counties of Wood, Lucas, Henry, Wyandott, Pickaway, Fairfield, and Wayne, Ohio; and Lenawee and Monroe counties, Michigan. His voice for public speaking finally failed totally, and in 1864 he located and entered and graduated from the Eclectic Medical Institute of Cincinnati, Ohio, in 1869, and has practiced medicine successfully from that time to the present. (1900).

Dr. Jacob H. Rosenberg educated himself after marriage by much planning and economy. He reads Greek, Latin and Hebrew, giving the translation very readily and rapidly. He is now a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. C: Sarah, Frank, Mary, Emlene.

VI. Joseph Amasa Munk, M. D., was born on a farm in Columbiana County, Ohio, November 19, 1847. At the age of five years his family moved to Salem, Ohio, and four years later to a farm near the village of Mt. Union, Ohio, where he spent several years of farm life in work and play and going to a district school.

During the late civil war the boys of his neighorganizing the patriotic spirit of their elders, organized a company for military drill of which he was elected Captain. In the summer of 1864 he determined to join the Union army, and after gaining his father's consent enlisted in Co. E, 178th O. V. I. and with his regiment was immediately assigned to active duty in the field. He served as private through several campaigns both east and west and in June 1865, at the close of the war and while yet under 18 years of age, received his discharge and was mustered out of the service.

After returning home he became a student of Mount Union college and after attending school one year he left college to study medicine with Dr. D. H. Rosenberg at Bettsville, Ohio; and in 1869 graduated from the Electric Medical Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio.

He first located at Lindsey, Ohio, but soon decided to go west and located next in Chillicothe, Mo. in 1871. Here he practiced medicine ten years; but not being satisfied with his opportunities, moved to Topeka, Kansas, in 1881 and bought a partnership with Dr. P. L. Mulyane. The firm of Drs. Mulyane & Munk did a successful business during its eleven years of partnership. In 1890 the firm dissolved by mutual consent, the senior partner Dr. Mulyane moving to Chicago where he retired from active practice, and in 1892 Dr. Munk moved to Los Angeles, California, where he has since lived.

During his early years of practice he spent his leisure time finding out what else he could do believing that no man knows what all he can do until he tries. His love of nature and natural science often took him to the fields and woods. He studied taxonomy and many mounted specimens of birds and small animals ornamented his office. He devoted some time to music and composed a number of songs that were published in sheet form by John Church & Co. of Cincinnati and glees, choruses and anthems were contributed to books edited by Prof. H. S. Perkins and published by Lyon & Healy of Chicago. After leaving Chillicothe he discontinued writing music as his time was fully occupied by his profession.

In Topeka, as a diversion, he joined the Modoc Club a musical organization composed exclusively of men and limited to thirty members. The club was organized in 1876 and under the able leadership of its permanent president Major T. J. Anderson prospered greatly and is in a flourishing condition at the present time. The club is in demand at Grand Army gatherings and public meetings and has traveled and sung from Boston to San Francisco.

Soon after moving to Topeka he became interested with his brothers in the range cattle business near Willcox, Arizona where they started a cattle ranch in 1882. In 1884 he made his first trip to Arizona and was so much impressed by what he saw that after returning home he tried to find out what had been written on that far away land. In his search for Arizona books he found a copy of Hinton's Handbook of Arizona which contained a list of a dozen or more other Arizona books, copies of all of these books were procured and since that time he has been a constant collector of Arizoniana. In 1900 he published his Arizona Bibliography which contains nearly 1,000 titles. During the past five years he has more than doubled his collection and expects soon to publish a second, revised and enlarged edition which will contain more than 2,000 titles.

During the past twenty years he has made frequent trips to Arizona and the southwest and regards Arizona as the greatest wonderland in America. He is familiar with ranch life, has visited its many natural wonders and prehistoric ruins and has studied its fascinating climate—all of which is described in his new book of Arizona Sketches that is just out.

He has been a regular contributor to current medical literature during the past thirty years and has written for the local press on hygiene and other health subjects. He has been a member of the Eclectic Medical societies of the several states in which he has lived and was elected Vice President of the National Eclectic Medical Association in 1876. He is the present Dean of the Los Angeles Eclectic Policlinic, a post graduate school of medicine that was opened last year.

He married Emma S. Beazell of Webster, Pa. January 6th, 1873. One child was born, a daughter, which died in infancy.

He is a republican in politics and Methodist in religion.

VI E. Henry Monk, M. D., b. near Georgetown, Ohio, Apr. 12, 1849; m. Lillian Hoag in 1874. P. O. Nevada, Iowa. Dr. Monk was educated at Mt. Union College, and graduated, taking his Degree of M. D. at the American Medical College in St. Louis, after which he settled in Story Co. Iowa, in the practice of Medicine. Soon after he reached the legal age for admission to the rites of Masonry he entered Columbia Lodge 242; changing his residence to the county seat, his membership was transferred to Nevada Lodge, No. 60, where he entered into full membership as a Master Mason June 7, 1873. He has been an active member of that Lodge for more than 20 years and has perhaps vouches for as many petitioners as has any other member. He has filled numerous offices and ably performed his full share of work on committees and on the floor. He holds membership and office in three times three chapters where he fills his chair promptly when not professionally absent. He has held the office of Health officer for the past ten years. Mrs. Monk is a graduate of Carthage College, Ill., and is City Librarian. She is also a lineal descendant of Elder William Brewster the spiritual leader of the Plymouth Colony, Mass. 1820, that came to America on the Mayflower, also of Rev. John Robinson, pastor of the Pilgrims at Lyden, Holland. She is a charter member of Abigail Adams Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and eligible to membership in Society of Colonial Dames. Meth. Ep. Ch. VII Grace Monk, b. VII Edward Brewster Monk, b. Dec. 29, 1887.

VI E. J. or Brockwell Monk, the third son of E. H. and Lillian Monk, (nee Rosenberry), b. was born January 31st, 1881, in Columbiana County, Ohio, and with the family a few years later removed to Alliance, Ohio. He received his earlier education in the Union schools, and later entered Mt. Union College.

During the time required to complete a classical course at college, he taught school at various places each winter term in order to obtain funds to carry him through the remaining terms of the college year. Notwithstanding the time thus taken from his college work in teaching, by applying himself continuously by night study while teaching and long hours of study while in college, he finished the four years course prescribed in the college curriculum to obtain a classical degree in the short time of three years, and was graduated during the month of July 1872, by obtaining the degree of Bachelor of Arts. At a later date the same college conferred upon him the degree of Master of Arts, he having pursued a Post Graduate course of study including law and the sciences. After spending a two months vacation in the eastern states, he entered the law department of the University of Michigan, located at Ann Arbor, Michigan, October first of the same year. But being in want of sufficient funds to complete the college course, he entered the law office of Judge Kent at Detroit, Mich., to prepare himself for the coming annual examination to be held by the Supreme Court of Michigan at the April Term, and by continuing what had now become almost a habit of studying long hours, continuing often into the small hours of the night, his preparation was duly completed.

The examination was held on the 29th day of April, 1873, at a session of the Michigan Supreme Court, composed of Chief Justice Christiancy, Thos. M. Cooley, author of Cooley's Blackstone, Judge Kent, a nephew of the Illustrious Chancellor Kent, and the author of Kent's Commentaries, and Judges Cambell and Walker, who together composed the Michigan Supreme Court, and who were all present and participated in the exhaustive quizzing of the applicants for admission to the Bar.

Mr. Monk passed a most satisfactory examination and was duly congratulated by this august body of eminent men that composed the Michigan Supreme Court, upon his success and thereupon ordered that a license to practice in all the courts of the state as an attorney, solicitor and counselor at law be issued to him. He receiving his license to practice law just seven months from the time that he commenced his law course of study, and matriculation at the Mich. University, an achievement that has seldom if ever been surpassed.

Mr. Monk being again out of funds, and it requiring funds to properly open a law office, he accepted the position of Superintendent of Schools at Nevada, Iowa, that fortunately was offered to him at this time.

Having conducted the schools with success during the school year and having thus obtained the funds required, he opened a law office at Des Moines, Iowa, and being aided by the kind assistance of Chief Justice C. C. Cole, of the Iowa Supreme Court, the officers of the Citizens National Bank and other clients, he obtained at once quite an extensive law practice, and successfully conducted a number of important suits in the various courts of the state.

During the year 1877, a good opening offering, he together with his brother, W. C. Monk, removed to St. Louis, Mo., and opened law offices with the object of making real estate and corporation law a specialty. They continued in business together with much success until 1882, when by over application his constitution was completely broken down, and on the recommendation of his physician he proceeded to seek the benefits of a milder climate, and out door life in Arizona.

Arriving in Southern Arizona, he at once saw an opening to obtain his object and in cooperation with his brothers located a cattle ranch, gaining the control of a large body of government land, by locating on it the land and building cabins, and stocking the same with cattle and horses, at the same time locating and appropriating and developing all the water consisting of springs that were to be found on the land and thus in time they secured control of a large tract of land, about twenty miles square, located near the railroad with good shipping facilities, and although they experienced considerable trouble with the rustlers (cattle thieves) and Indians, the business venture has been a success from the start. During the years of 1882 to 1884, the Apache Indians under Geronimo made a number of raids from San Carlos Reservation into Southeastern Arizona, and on into Mexico, and more than once passed by or through the Monk Cattle Range that the Monk Brothers had located near Bowie, Arizona. These Indians after fruitless effort on the part of Gen. Crook to stop their raiding through the country, such raids always resulting in the massacre of many ranchmen, miners and cowboys living in the territory, Gen. Miles, who succeeded Gen. Crook in command of the troops in Arizona after a long chase, finally succeeded in capturing the Apache Chief Geronimo and his followers and brought the whole band numbering about 300, composed of bucks, squaws and children, to Bowie Station on the S. P. R. R. from which point they were at once shipped by rail to Ft. Sill and other points located in the East, where the influence of civilization has to some extent enlightened and christianized the band. Since the removal of this band of Indians, no further trouble has been experienced from the Indians, although at the San Carlos Indian Agency and Reservation, there are now living not less than 6000 or 7000 Indians who are still supported more or less by the United States Government.

But with the removal of these Indians our troubles were not yet ended, for within a few months numerous bands of Rustlers (cow and horse thieves) infested this border country between Arizona and Mexico, and many startling and unlawful incidents might be told of thier murders, train robberies and depredations and injuries inflicted upon the ranch men located near this border country joining Mexico, on the South.

During the years 1, 4, 5 and 6 the crimes committed in this section of the country by the Rustlers had become so numerous and atrocious that the cowmen, miners and freighters united together and determined to inaugurate a reform in the administration of the laws. To accomplish this purpose, they concluded to nominate a reform ticket to be voted upon at the next election. At the head of this ticket, Mr. Monk was nominated for the office of County Judge, together with prominent cowmen for Prosecuting Attorney and Sheriff. After a most exciting canvass and election, the opposition ticket was badly snowed under, and the Cowboy Judge and his cowboy friends elected by a large majority.

From the time that Judge Monk entered upon his duties as Judge of the roughest and toughest section of Southern Arizona, the cow thieves and Rustlers received all that was coming to them. Some were killed by the sheriff and his deputies; some were hung by the Vigilance Committee, and some were sent to the penitentiary and law and order was soon established in this section of the territory. He served with much success during his term of office and was re-elected for a second term, and at the expiration of this time, Tombstone and Cochise Co., Arizona was as peaceable and orderly as any section located in the Eastern states.

During the year 1893, there being a vacancy in the United States Land Office at Tucson, Arizona, Judge Monk was appointed Receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Tucson by President Cleveland, and through him held and filled with credit to himself and the Government for the term of four years. During his term of office many of the Government Reclamation projects which the various Army Posts and Forts had been located and then abandoned were opened up for settlement, bearing in mind the sale and public disposal of the Public Lands was so far from conducting along the lines of reclamation forces, as an instance might be given of the case of Fort Grand Reclamation. This Reclamation project, on both banks of the San Pedro River, had been started, but had not been continued.

the river overflowed its banks, and washed away all the bridges crossing the river for many miles in each direction from the old fort. As it was impossible by those wishing to bid orally that were on the opposite side of the banks upon which the sale was held by him the written bid of the would-be-purchaser was carefully wrapped around a weight and this weight was attached to a cord and sent across the river, and the award to the highest bidder was returned in the same manner to the successful man, and although rather tedious work, most of the old fort was disposed of before the sale was ended.

At this time Gov. Hughes of Arizona, appointed Judge Monk a Regent of University of Arizona, the school being quite small and not very successful but under the new administration and the employment of new and efficient corps of professions, the University within a few years increased so rapidly in efficiency and attendance, that many new departments have been established, new buildings have been erected, and a fund sufficient provided to insure its continued future success.

Under his appointment by the Commissioners of the United States Land Office, as Disbursing Agent of the Land Office, and his appointment as Civil Service Examiner for Arizona by the Government, together as manager of the Monk Bros. Ranch, as well as his other duties pertaining to the Land Office and the University, he had his time fully engaged, and in fact, his health again having failed, he determined to again make a change for his future field of labor, and after visiting a number of places, and cities in the West, he determined that Los Angeles was by far the most prosperous and possessed all those attractions most desirous to establish a permanent home. Having determined to remove to Los Angeles, California, before doing so, however Judge Monk concluded to spend some months in seeing the Old World and in June 1900, sailed from New York on the Steamship Furst Bismark, Hamburgh-American Line for France; He landed at Cherbourg and spent a few days in Paris visiting the Exposition and greatly en-showing the many and to him then strange sights and attractions to be found in the one Paris of the world.

In succession he visited Switzerland, crossed the Alps, twice, once by Simplon Pass, and once across the Alps by way of the Trete Noire Pass, traveling on and sailing over the Northern Lakes of Italy, thence to Milan and along the Riviera to Monte Carlo, visiting the Casino, the largest gambling halls in the world, whereby placing a five franc piece on the Roulette table, he won fifty, and on the same day and hour many players lost their all, and to these life became a burden because they were never able to redeem the fortune they had lost. For but a few men or women (the women gamble the same as the men) can say that they are the "one who broke the Bank at Monte Carlo." Thence he traveled down the east coast of the Mediterranean from Genoa to Rome, the old capitol of Italy, wherein are to be found still standing the old walls and the Coliseum of the old Roman Empire, thence south to Naples, on to Pompeii and to the top of Mt. Vesuvius. Thence across Italy to Florence to the famous Campanile, thence over to Venice, the city built on a thousand islands, with canals for streets and gondolas to convey the people across the city, engaging a gondola he passed the Bridge of Sighs that crosses one of the canals; visiting the Grand Square of St. Mark, St. Mark's Church, the wonder among the churches of Europe, and other points of interest. Thence he traveled north through Germany to Oberammergau where the famous Passion Play is seen for a season every ten years.

The following extract, taken from the old parish records of Oberammergau, will explain the origin of the play in that village:

"In the year 1633 the pest raged so fearfully that in the parish of Kohlgrub (three hours from here) there were only two couples left, and a man named Casper Schuchler, coming here to visit his wife and child, fell by the road-side and was buried.

"From that day to the eve of Sion and Jubel a period of three weeks, eighty-four people died of the plague; accordingly, eighteen burghers, assembling from the village of Oberammergau, vowed that once in ten years they would present in living pictures the Passion of Jesus Christ. From that instant the plague ceased, and those who were ill instantly recovered."

Levi C. Rosenberget.

Dr. E. H. Monk.

This vow has, with few exceptions when prevented by war, been faithfully observed every ten years.

Not less than 5000 strangers visit the town every week that the play lasts, during the summer months of the year and are amply repaid for the expense and inconvenience involved in making the journey.

After spending a very pleasant time in Munich, a typical city of Germany and the richest city in Germany in its various treasures of art, he passed through Austria to Vienna and was present at the annual celebration of the Emperor's Birthday, and witnessed the grandest illumination of a city that has possibly ever taken place.

Thence he traveled north through the city of Dresden and in which reside not less than 50,000 people who speak the English language, although in the very midst of German culture. Thence on to Berlin the capital of Germany. He had often heard and read of linden Strassa (unter den linden) and imagined its immense big linden trees shading the street, but in fact, found a very scraggy and stunted lot of linden trees lining the streets for some distance, and the Strassa is far from being what could be called clean and attractive to visitors.

From Berlin he traveled west to Wiesbaden, a great German watering place. Then to Beilbrick on the Rhine and passing down the Rhine on a fine saloon steamer for a twelve hour daylight ride down the River past Bingen on the Rhine on to Bonn, between which points the interest of the Rhine scenery surpassing that of Europe or America for variegated and attractive features.

Passing through Mayence to Heidelberg, the home of the famous old Heidelberg University, he proceeded to the city of Stuttgart, the capital of Wurtemberg, the place of his father's nativity, with the object in view to obtain whatever information that he could discover as to his ancestors on his father's side.

After a somewhat hasty and unsatisfactory investigation by inquiring of a number of persons bearing the name of Monk or Munk residing in Stuttgart and the village of Constadt, nearby, as to facts relating to his ancestors, or any facts connected with their early history. He became satisfied that in the earlier genealogy of the family, his great grandfather emigrated from England to Germany, changing the spelling of the name from the English Monk to the German Moonk or Munk, the German n having the same sound as the o or oo in the English. Acting upon the knowledge obtained, he as well as other members of the family have changed the spelling of the name from Munk to Monk, although it is even yet uncertain as to the correct spelling of the name.

From this place Judge Monk proceeded to Cologne, thence through Belgium to Brussels, and to the battlefield of Waterloo; thence to Amsterdam through Holland across the channel to England, Scotland and Ireland, to South Hampton and thence by the Steamship New York, American Line, back to New York.

The following year finds the Judge taking a winter's trip through Mexico, spending most of the time in the City of Mexico, with short trips to Vera Cruz and other points of interest in the country. Then a summer trip through Alaska, to Sitka, passing by the Muir Glacier and climbing the Davidson Glacier and on his return trip passing through Juneau, to Skagaway, and White Pass, back to San Francisco. These with side trips to Yellowstone Park, Yosemite Valley and the Grand Canon of the Colorado, have provided him with the recreation and rest that his health demanded, and with renewed energy and strength he has located and opened a law office in the City of Los Angeles, California, where he has sufficient business to keep him well employed.

From the time the Judge reached the age of twenty-one he has been connected with the various secret orders, having joined the Knights of Pythias, the order of Elks and the various Masonic bodies. In Masonry he passed through the degrees of the Blue Lodge, the chapter, the council, the Commandry, and the Shriners, and is now a member of Los Angeles Commandry, and Malaikah Council of the Mystic Shrine of Los Angeles.

He is a member of Christ Episcopal Church of the city, a member of the Los Angeles Country Club, the Jonathan Club, and the California Club, each club being the owners of magnificent club rooms in the city, and thus providing the opportunity for many years denied him by his residence in Arizona, that of the association with highly cultivated and educated people, and to live in an atmosphere permeated with the latest knowledge of Art, Literature, Science and Religion, as well as the enjoyments pertaining to the social life of a city of two hundred thousand people, and blessed with the finest climate in the world.

III. Isaac Rosenberger, b. Nov. 30, 1751, d. July 30, 1830, m. Christian, adopted daughter of Rev. John Funk. She d. Mar. 8, 1821. He was probably the youngest son of Daniel and received the larger portion of the plantation, comprising 150 acres, and as a consideration the amount of £20 and 18 shillings were paid. The tract is now most occupied by the fine farm of Milton Jenkins, comprising 135 acres.

Here, surrounded by shade trees, are excellent farm buildings of modern construction. The farm is watered by a creek, flowing southward, which joins the other branches of the Neshaminy south of Line Lexington. Near the present dwelling are two old houses, relics of the past, one of stone, the other of logs. The latter was built before the Revolution, or perhaps about 1772. It was the dwelling of Isaac Rosenberger. He afterwards erected a stone house and a barn adjoining. In 1810 he purchased 22 acres adjoining on the southern side, and had in all 170 acres. After his death the farm was sold to Martin Rosenberger, and by him conveyed in 1831 to Isaac Rosenberger, Jr. In 1855 the old home stead was sold to Milton Jenkins, the present owner. Farmer. Mem's. Isaiah in 2nd wife Anna Rosenberger. He attended public school until 14 years of age, when he entered the Lansdale, (Pa.) Reporter office to learn the art of printing. Four years later, or after serving an apprenticeship, he was employed on the Harleysville News (then in its infancy) at $1.50 and board per week, and later was promoted to editor.

After being employed on that paper for over three years he took a position as foreman on the Ambler (Pa.) Gazette and later was employed on the Philadelphia Press, but lost his position by a strike of the Typographical Union in that office one year later. He was again employed in the Harleysville News office as foreman, the paper then being owned by the A. E. Dambly estate, of Skippack, Pa., and about one year later, on May 8, 1892 purchased the establishment from the estate. He was also founder of the Harleysville and Hatfield Beneficial and was elected treasurer of the former in 1894.

Mr. Haldeman is a self-made man in every sense that the word implies. He started in life with nothing but good health and plenty of ambition and he worked himself up by careful attention to every detail of business both as an employee and employer. He saved his money which he invested in a building and loan association until he possessed $300. This formed the nucleus capital with which he started in the newspaper business.

After entering the newspaper business he took an active part in local politics and his paper was the only one in Montgomery county that came out for Quay in his memorable fight for control of the State Republican organization at a time when the Senator's fight was a seemingly hopeless one.

Mr. Haldeman was elected an alternate delegate from the seventh Congressional District to the Republican National Convention held at St. Louis in 1896 and was appointed a member of the County Executive Committee during the same campaign.

He is also a member of the Republican County Committee. C: (VII) Ella C. Haldeman, b Aug 8, 1892. Eva Haldeman, b July 22, 1895.

JOHN ROSENBERGER, SR., OF HATFIELD.

II. John Rosenberger, b. 1724, d. 1808. In "Fricks" graveyard lies the body of Johannes Rosenberger, b. 1724, d. 1808, aged 84 years. During his lifetime he purchased many hundred acres of land. His ambition was to give a farm to each of his children. The site of Hatfield village and station was owned by him. His lands extended from thence to the Franconia line and even beyond. They covered an extremely level territory, with extensive meadows. In the northern end of Hatfield village and close to the eastern side of the railroad are the modern farm buildings formerly belonging to Enos Kriebble. Here was the site of the old homestead of John Rosenberger. The old log house stood there until 1884 and was torn down and the old barn was destroyed by fire. At the upper road crossing of the brook, on the western side, may be seen a depression or hole in the bank, about which trees of considerable size are growing. This was the site of a grist mill, which was built before the Revolution. The land on which it was built was purchased by him in 1769 and the mill built soon after. It was the first mill erected in this region. It was torn down by Peter Conyer in 1820. The place where stood the old mill is now on the premises of William Deppa. The land of John Rosenberger was comprised of at least 308 acres purchased before the Revolution and at later periods he purchased several hundred more. The farms now owned by Jacob Kulp, William Delp, Enos Kriebel, John Rosenberger, John Kindig, Jacoby Ott, J. Wireman, Abraham Gehman J. D. Gehman, besides smaller lots of the village of Hatfield, belonged to John Rosenberger. John Rosenberger was twice married, his first wife's name was Barbara and his second wife's name was Christiana, maiden names unknown. He was a Mennonite and was one of the four trustees to whom was deeded the lot where stands the Line Lexington Mennonite Meetinghouse. C: Martin, Abraham, John, Benjamin, Daniel, Henry, Catharine.

III. Martin Rosenberger, b about 1753, d July 1781, m Elizabeth ——. He became a miller and to him his father sold 77 acres in 1776. He died when a young man, leaving four minor children. His real estate was sold to Peter Conver in 1799. The old mill property has been owned since 1874 by William Delp. C: John, Elizabeth, Mary.

DESCENDANTS OF BENJAMIN ROSENBERGER,
SON OF JOHN ROSENBERGER, SR.

III. Benjamin Rosenberger, b in 1761, d in 1832, m —. To him was conveyed the homestead now owned by Abraham Moyer, and other lands. This was sold to him in 1794 in two lots of 57 and 68 acres. The first lot of the Moyer farm was part of the 109 acres obtained by patent in 1770. The 68 acres was below the line of the turnpike, and was part of the 95 acres sold by Alexander Foreman to John Rosenberger and confirmed to him by the executors of the Warner estate in 1759, and a later date owned and subdivided by Tobias Shull. Upon this he built the village of Hatfield. The remaining 27 acres had been sold to Martin Rosenberger. In 1831 Benjamin conveyed the homestead to his son Benjamin Rosenberger, Jr., for £1400, stipulating that he should have home and maintenance the remainder of his life. In 1833 the farm was sold to John Rosenberger, miller, of Hilltown. The subsequent transfers have been: 1856 to William S. Strunk; 1861 to Henry Rosenberger; 1866 to Tobias Hangey; 1872 to Enos Kriebel, then to Hoot, then to Abraham Moyer present owner. Menn's. C: Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Benjamin, Nancy.

DESCENDANTS OF DANIEL ROSENBERGER,
SON OF JOHN ROSENBERGER, SR.

III. Daniel Rosenberger, b in Montg. Co., about 1765, d 1830, m Sophia Wiereman. Farmer. Menn's. To Daniel was conveyed in 1790 for £ 400 two lots, one of 51 $\frac{1}{2}$ acres, and one of 25 acres. The first was the upper portion of the 199 acres of his father's estate, obtained by patent in 1779. It is now the farm of Rev. John Rosenberger, a Mennonite preacher. His large and commodious house stands on the bank overlooking the meadow below, through which flows the brook, the water of which turned the old mill of his ancestors. The other, or smaller tract obtained by Daniel from his father, was in Franconia, bought in 1789 from the Clibborn Wilson estate. Farmer. Menn's. - IV. Jacob W. Rosenberger, b in Montg. Co., Dec 6, 1809, d Jan 6, 1894, m Elizabeth Swartley, Nov 20, 1836. Mr. Rosenberger received a common school education. In early life he engaged in the manufacture of various articles of utility and ornament. For many years he was extensively engaged in the manufacture of wooden sieves used by powder manufacturers to sift the powder. He later engaged in farming and on retiring from that vocation engaged in making brooms and all kinds of bric-a-brac for his grand children. He was of such a nature that he could not content himself without some useful employment, although afflicted with a peculiar ailment since his 35th year, since which time he had few hours in which he was entirely free from pain, or able to do hard work, yet notwithstanding all that, he was a remarkably well preserved man up to his old age. - V. Abraham S. Rosenberger, b in Hatfield Twp. Montg. Co. Pa., Aug 19, 1843, m Catharine C. Allebach, Oct. 3, 1868, P. O. Hatfield, Pa. Mr. Rosenberger was given a good education. On leaving the township schools at the age of 15 years, he took a course at Kulpsville Seminary for two winters. He then took one term at the Carversville Normal Institute and a short teachers' preparatory course at Pottstown under Robert Crinkshank. He then went into the world to make his own way and for ten successive terms taught school. In 1869 he settled in Hatfield Twp. and in 1872 bought a farm which he has since successfully conducted. Mr. Rosenberger has always been a very active Republican and has held office of a local nature for many years. He was a school director for one term and in 1890 was a delegate to the Republican State Convention at Harrisburg, Pa. A few years after settling in Hatfield township he was elected assessor and filled that post for eighteen consecutive years. In 1889, after serving 12 years as assessor he was re-elected to this office for three years and received every vote that was polled at that election.

His long term as assessor, has made Mr. Rosenberger acquainted with almost every man, woman and child in the district, and familiar with every lot of ground, its dimensions and ownership.

Mr. Rosenberger has been a very considerable collector of books on a wide range of subjects, and possesses a good working library. He is a constant reader and one of the intelligent and well informed men of his community. He is a close student of public questions, as well, and familiar with county, state and national issues. Although he never served an apprenticeship in the mechanical arts, yet he evinces marked inventive genius as an artisan. He has invented, draughted and constructed many devices and machines of merit which, however, he made no efforts to have patented. Menn's, C. David, Mary, Harvey, Jacob, Allen, Edwin, Erwin, Lizzie.

VII. Seward M. Rosenberger, b in Milford Square Bucks Co. Pa., Aug 9, 1872, m Emma Sell, daughter of William B. Sell, of Spinnerstown, in 1896. P. O. Quakertown, Pa. When 12 years of age Mr. Rosenberger began working on a farm in the neighborhood, attending the public school of the village for five months in the year. Being devoted to his books, he made the best of these short terms and at age of 16, was granted a teacher's provisional certificate. At the beginning of the term of 1888-89, he started the work of teaching, taking charge of the public school at Geryville, Bucks Co. Pa. The following two terms he taught at Spinnerstown, and then for three terms the Milford Square grammar school, all in Milford, Bucks County. During these years he availed himself of the advantages which the Normal school of the district, located at West Chester offered, attending the spring sessions. During the term of 1894-95, he had charge of the study room at the Normal, in the meantime pursuing his studies. Entering the senior class next term, he graduated in the Elementary course. Before completing the work of the course, he had been elected to the principalship of the schools of Quakertown Pa. and entering upon his duties at the opening of the term of 1895-1896. He is devoted to the calling which claims him and is eminently successful in it. He is actively identified with the various educational interests of this county, having served as vice president of the Annual Teacher's Institute and as president of the Principals Association of the county, besides doing work on important committees. He has from his early years been deeply interested in religious activities. While attending Normal school, he was active in the work of the Y. M. C. A. At present he is a trustee of the Mennonite church at Quakertown and is active in Sunday school and Young People's Association work. For two years he was assistant editor of the Mennonite, the organ of the church of his choice. C: VIII. Arthur Rosenberger, b Sept 6, 1898; Willard S.

Mr. Diehl attended the public schools at Quakertown, Seidersville and Allentown until 14 years of age, when he was apprenticed to learn the printer's trade in the office of Rev. S. K. Brobst. At the same time he was called upon to read proof and assume other similar duties. In 1872 he was taken into partnership by Rev. Brobst and till the end of 1876 when the latter died, the firm title was S. K. Brobst & Co. The founder's son then became partner, the firm name changing to Brobst, Diehl & Co., this arrangement continuing several years, when the subject of this sketch by purchase became the sole owner of the establishment, which is now publishing three periodicals and a list of books of nearly 30 titles and also conducting a general book and stationary store. VII. Oliver Diehl, M. D., b in Quakertown, Pa., June 21, 1856, m Sarah Hester Williams, Phila. Pa., Oct 11, 1882. Res 6326 Burbridge St. Phila. Pa. While an infant his parents removed to Seidersville, Pa. and from there to Allentown, Pa. When six years old he entered the public schools at the latter place. At fourteen years of age he left school to enter the employ of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Co., at Allentown station, learning telegraphy and serving in various capacities in the offices of the Company until 1877 when he left the employ of the company to enter the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia, Pa. He had previously prepared himself for the course in medicine by devoting his spare moments to study and by taking advantage of opportunities offered by practitioners of Allentown to witness operations and to study cases of diseases. He was graduated from the Jefferson Medical College in the spring of 1879 and shortly afterwards secured an appointment as house physician at St. Mary's Hospital, Philadelphia, Pa., where he spent a year. After leaving this hospital he passed the examination for entrance into the Navy and was commissioned an Assistant Surgeon on July 6th, 1880. His first duty was on board the U. S. Receiving Ship "St. Louis," at League Island, Pa., from which he was transferred to the U. S. Receiving Ship "Franklin," at Norfolk, Va. He then served successfully at the Recruiting Rendezvous Phila., again on the "St. Louis" and then at the Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., making the Summer practice cruise in 1883 on board the U. S. S. "Constellation." In July 1883 he was promoted to the rank of Passed Assistant Surgeon and in September 1883 was ordered to the U. S. S. "Quinnebang" on the European Station, serving until 1886 when he was ordered home and to duty at the U. S. Naval Hospital, New York. From there he was transferred to the Naval Hospital and Home at Philadelphia, serving there for three years he was ordered in Jan 1890 to the U. S. S. "Baltimore" which vessel went into commission at Cramps Ship-Yard at Phila., where she had just been completed and was commanded by Capt. Winfield S. Schley (now Rear Admiral). However, on the way to Chile the "Baltimore" stopped at Montevideo for coal and it so happened that the Surgeon of the U. S. S. "Essex," then in that port was taken ill and was invalided home. Surgeon Dichtl was ordered by cable to succeed him on the "Essex" and finished his cruise in that vessel on the South Atlantic station, coming home on her in the spring of 1893. He was then ordered to the Naval Hospital Philadelphia where he served until April 1897 when he was ordered to the Monitor "Terror" having in the meantime been promoted to the rank of Surgeon. The "Terror" was one of our ships serving in the late war with Spain. After the destruction of the "Maine" and while preparations were being made for the conflict which was now regarded as inevitable she was ordered to New York to protect that Port. In the latter end of March she was ordered to Key West and on the commencement of hostilities went to Havana and was stationed at Cardenas, Cuba, to maintain the eastern end of the blockade. Shortly after her arrival she captured as prizes the following Spanish vessels viz steamers "Guiró" and "Bolivar," schooners "Tres Hermanas" and "Mascoto." From this point she went with Admiral Sampson's Squadron to the eastward in search of Cervera's Squadron and took part in the bombardment of San Juan, Porto Rico. After returning to Key West she again did blockade duty off Havana and other Cuban Ports and later on joined General Miles' expedition to Porto Rico lying at Ponce and Guanica at which Ports she was of valuable assistance to the Army in aiding the landing of the troops and stores. In September the "Terror" was ordered North and went into reserve at Norfolk, Va. Surgeon Diehl was then ordered to the U. S. S. "Michigan" on the Northwestern Lakes where he is serving at the present time. Luths. C: (VIII) Mary Winifred Diehl, b September 16, 1887, d May 15, 1889; Oliver Roland Diehl, b July 7, 1890.

REV. HENRY ROSENBERGER, of FRANCONIA.

II. Rev. Henry Rosenberger, b. Dec. 2, 1725, d. 1809, m. Barbara Oberholtzer in 1745. She was b. 1726, d. Feb. 3, 1765. In 1745 Henry Rosenberger became the owner of the old homestead of his father Henry Rosenberger, Sr. in Franconia for which the son Henry paid £200. Henry Rosenberger also owned a farm in New Britain, Bucks Co., which he purchased from Christian Miller, deed bearing date of April 13, 1773, containing 100 acres for which he paid £600. This property he sold and conveyed to his son-in-law Mark Fretz, of New Britain, May 5, 1784. At this time 1784 Henry Rosenberger seems to have been a resident of Franconia, as the deed of Henry Rosenberger to Mark Fretz, reads "Henry Rosenberger, of Franconia Twp., etc. That he at one time lived in New Britain township where he owned other land, is certain. On Sept. 26, 1774 he bought 29 1/2 acres of John Benner, situated at the Neshaminy Creek, adjoining lands of Thomas Barton and the said Henry Rosenberger and which he sold to John Redline, of New Britain township, July 13, 1790 for £175. At this time he must have lived in New Britain, as indenture to Redline reads "Henry Rosenberger, of New Britain township and Elizabeth being his second wife, maiden name unknown. No issue by her. April 15, 1774, "Henry Rosenberger, of New Britain township," bought of Theophilus Reese, 140 acres, adjoining William Davis, Thomas Barton and David Morgan and sold it to Jacob Miller, April 6, 1795.

It is said that Henry Rosenberger lived in New Britain township about a mile N. E. from the Line Lexington Monmouth church, that his farm adjoined the township line of Hildtown on the N. W. and on the N. E. by a public road. His farm was for many years owned by George Schelp, who sold a part of it to Aaron S. Swartley.

Henry Rosenberger was a Mennonite minister and served as such at the Franconia Meetinghouse during the time of the Revolution. C: Gertrude, Anna, Abraham, Elizabeth, Barbara, Maria, Magdalena, Son, Daughter, Sarah.

FIRST ROSENBERGER FAMILY REUNION.

The first reunion of the Rosenberger family was held in Perkasio Park, Bucks County, Pa., on Thursday, August 10, 1899.

The weather in the early morning was rainy, and fears were entertained that the rain would interfere with the attendance. However, while o'er head the clouds hung dark and broken, it ceased to rain, and the descendants began to arrive, in vehicles of every description, from the surrounding districts of Bucks and Montgomery Counties, while the incoming trains brought hundreds more, until upwards of 1,500 descendants of the pioneer Henry Rosenberger were present. The arrangements of the reunion were in charge of a committee who had been engaged for some time in the work of preparation, and the exercises were signally successful.

Included in the gathering were representatives of the family from Bucks, Montgomery and Lehigh Counties, and Philadelphia, while several came from distant states in the West and Canada.

The exercises began at 10:30 a. m., when the chairman, Prof. Seward M. Rosenberger, of Quakertown, Pa., mounted the platform in the auditorium of the park and introduced Prof. Howard Freed, of Lansdale, Pa., as the first participant, who rendered a pleasing piano solo. This was followed by singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," and a fervent prayer was then offered by Rev. G. W. Hengen, of Perkasio, Pa., after which Prof. S. M. Rosenberger, of Quakertown, Pa., delivered the address of welcome, to which Rev. S. A. Ziegenfuss, D. D., of Germantown, Pa., responded in an appropriate address in which he cited his connection with the family and congratulated the committee on the success of the undertaking.

Miss Ella Geller, a promising young vocalist, of Lansdale, Pa., favored the audience with a vocal solo.

and Miss Stella Rosenberger, of Philadelphia, rendered an excellent piano solo.

The memorial address, prepared by A. R. Place, Esq., of Lansdale, Pa., was read by Dr. Daniel M. Lanois, of Perkasie, Pa. Mr. Place, just having been treated for an affection of the throat, his physician would not permit him to use his voice. The address was one of the best productions of the day.

The exercises of the forenoon were closed by singing that patriotic hymn, "America."

At 2 o'clock, the audience which had been considerably increased by later arrivals, again gathered in the auditorium and the exercises for the afternoon were opened by singing "Nearer My God to Thee," after which a piano duet was rendered by Miss Stella Rosenberger and Howard Freed. The chairman then introduced Samuel Z. Freed, Esq., of Doylestown, Pa., who delivered an address. He was followed by an address by Prof. A. F. K. Krout, M. A., of Philadelphia. Misses Mabel and Susie Rosenberger, of Hilltown, Pa., rendered a piano duet, and J. V. Omaeren, Esq., of Quakertown, Pa., addressed the audience briefly in the absence of F. G. Hobson, Esq., of Collegeville, Pa., who was announced on the program as one of the speakers, but failed to be present.

Miss Ella Geller sang another solo, after which the historical address was delivered by Rev. A. J. Fretz, of Milton, N. J.

At the close of the exercises the question of holding future reunions of the family came up for consideration, and it was moved and carried to hold a reunion of the family every five years.

SECOND ROSENBERGER FAMILY REUNION.

The second reunion of the Rosenberger family was held on Thursday, August 11, 1904, when about 1,000 descendants of the pioneer Bishop Henry Rosenberger gathered in Perkasio Park, Bucks Co., Pa. The day did not open auspiciously, and the threatening skies kept many away. In the afternoon the large pavilion was well filled.

A short program was rendered in the forenoon. Prayer by Rev. S. A. Stopp, of Doylestown, Pa. Dr. D. M. Landis extended the welcome of the town and committee to the visiting relatives. Prof. S. M. Rosenberger responded to the words of welcome. James A. Rosenberger, of Milford Square, delivered an oration lauding the virtues of the ancestors, and emphasizing the need of cheerful devotion to duty and right. Miss Nora Rosenberger, of Perkasio, gave a touching reading, which was sympathetically received by the audience. Addresses in the afternoon were delivered by J. Ralphus Freed, Esq., of Doylestown, in the English language, and Frank R. Rosenberger, of Milford Square, in German. The addresses were replete with happy allusions and sparkling thoughts. A trio was rendered by W. B. Rosenberger's family and a number of instrumental selections were rendered by the Misses Susie and Mabel Rosenberger, of Hilltown. The musical renditions greatly delighted the audience. The historical sketch prepared by Rev. A. J. Fretz, the family historian, was read by the president of the Association. At a business session the officers of the Association were re-elected to serve the next reunion 1907. They are Prof. S. M. Rosenberger, President; L. R. Haldeman, Secretary; Frank Rosenberger, Treasurer; Dr. D. M. Landis, Isaac Rosenberger and Harvey Landis, Executive Committee.

The gentle reminder of the editor that he has about completed the manuscript for the Rosenberger Family History, and that the last article in the form of a valediction would therefore be expected without much further delay, urges me to fulfill a promise which I made some time ago, and which I have not forgotten. Many of us have no doubt awaited the appearance of this work with a great deal of interest. Various matters have transpired within recent years to awaken our expectations to a greater or less degree, so that any one connected with the Rosenberger family, would, from time to time, find his feelings agitated, his hopes excited and his desires deepened, as these matters relating to the history of the family took more definite shape.

The very first announcement from the Editor calling our attention to the fact that the publication of a history of the pioneers and descendants of the Rosenberger family would be undertaken, could not fail to awaken a responsive chord in the heart of every living member who happens to be in any way connected with the family. And every subsequent announcement of the intended project, had the effect to increase our interest and augment our sympathy in behalf of the movement.

But this favorable regard reached its highest point, (in our judgment) in the very successful ROSENBERGER FAMILY REUNION, held at Perkasié Park in the summer of 1899. Such an outpouring of people must certainly have exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the committee who arranged for the reunion, and demonstrated in no uncertain tones the attitude of the descendants to their family history.

The preparation and completion of such a history is necessarily fraught with a great deal of labor, research and patience. We are deeply sensible and fully appreciate the greatness and accuracy of the work done by the Editor in gathering, compiling and arranging the historical data of this family, tracing our lineage and making it possible for us to see the line of our particular descent from, and our relations to the parent stem. It is an intricate and yet withal an interesting study.

As we scan the pages of this volume, we learn a great many things that we had not known before. We gain a better insight into our family history, appreciate the more fully the noble deeds, the pioneer work, the glorious achievements, the arduous self-denials, the worthy examples and goodly heritage handed down to us by our fathers. Our eyes are opened and our hearts are impressed as we ponder the character of our ancestors in their integrity, uprightness, honesty and manly virtues. Such consideration and reflection cannot fail to incite us in constantly putting forth the greatest efforts to prove ourselves the worthy descendants of noble sires. What man hath done man can do. It would be idle folly, therefore, for any one to presume to rest on the laurels of his progenitors.

“Let us, then, be up and doing,
With a heart for any fate;
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labor and to wait.”

While we may reasonably expect that all our kindred will make themselves the possessors of at least one copy of this valuable history, (for its price is certainly placed within the reach of each one) we, at the same time hope that they will not only give the volume a place on their library shelves, but will study its pages and acquaint themselves with its facts. The character of the work stamps it largely as a book of reference, one that needs to be consulted repeatedly, in order to be rightly understood and properly appreciated. Frequent recurrences to its pages, and a constant looking up of its events and names will fill the mind with a proper knowledge of our genealogy, and enable us to speak intelligently concerning the matters that are related to us so closely.

It is a work, therefore, not of passing value and present interest only, but one that grows upon us as time passes on, and will prove a treasure even to our succeeding generations.

I have already written enough and ought to say farewell. But before doing so finally, let me impress the thought: How will our lives compare with the lives of our forefathers? Will the world be the better because we have lived in it? Will our children and children's children rise up to call us blessed, because we have not lived in vain, and because we have made the best use of our talents, and have been faithful, devoted and true to our Divine Lord and Master? We thus leave a good example behind us and pass from the scenes of this life into the blessedness of the life beyond. With these thoughts we lay our pen down as we write a last and an affectionate farewell.
